

ISO CAT 1 Certification Training

Introducing a first in South Africa, certified in accordance with ISO 18436-3 and 18436-8

The scope

ISO CAT 1 Ultrasound Certification Training (4 days)

Ultrasound testing is the first line of defence against unplanned downtime. As the inspector responsible for this crucial condition monitoring activity, you need the knowledge to understand your task. ISO CAT 1 Ultrasound Certification Training presents you the opportunity to achieve the highest qualification in ultrasound – an internationally recognised certificated course from the Mobius Institute.

During the training you have an opportunity to work with and learn from one of the world's most experienced ultrasound trainers and inspectors. Offering our learner a wealth of knowledge and experience in ultrasound techniques.

This 4-day course is an essential mix of theoretical knowledge and practical experience. Working from the CAT 1 course guide students are exposed to sound theory and how it is applied to the inspection disciplines demanded by an effective ultrasound program.

Course Objectives

- Understanding the principles of ultrasound as applied to predictive maintenance
- A knowledge of airborne and structure-borne sensors and their functions.
- Explore data acquisitions and storage options
- Analysing and trending data, utilising time signal analysis and setting up statistical decibel alarms.
- A study of ultrasound applications
- Assessing equipment and analysing results
- Recommendations on the implementation of an ultrasound program

Certification Requirements

- A minimum of six months practical experience using the Ultrasound SDT 200 or SDT 270
- The results of a hearing test from within the same calendar year
- A completed course application form
- A pass mark for a closed book exam

Who should attend?

- Condition monitoring and reliability practitioners
- Energy managers and auditors
- Electrical and mechanical engineers
- Electrical maintenance personnel
- Engineering managers
- Asset managers
- Senior technicians

Course outcomes

- How to apply sound based techniques to predict mechanical and electrical failures
- Gain vital safety knowledge for working in high voltage areas
- Certification is provided on completion of the course and a closed book exam from the Mobius Institute Board Certification (MIBoC) which is ISO accredited in accordance with ISO 18436-1

Dates

- 26 - 28 February & 1 March 2019 (4 days)
